

Yes, there most definitely should be ala carte in channels offered by cable companies. In seven years, the cost has been increased over 11 dollars, as more news and sports channels are added which we do not watch, except for local news. We watch approximately 10 channels out of approximately 70 offered. Other channels I would be interested in watching are only available at an increased rate. Custom tv with reasonable rates should be available to everyone.